Rep. Sara Feigenholtz Endorses Ann Williams in 11th District Race

Chicago—State Representative Sara Feigenholtz is the latest Illinois leader to endorse Ann Williams in the race for the 11th District State House seat.

Rep. Feigenholtz is widely recognized as a formidable advocate for the residents of her diverse district — and for people throughout the state. The long list of progressive causes she has championed includes a woman’s right to choose, affordable and accessible health care, AIDS funding, environmental protection, and improving the quality of education.

“I see in Ann all of the essential qualities of a truly effective state representative,” Rep. Feigenholtz said in announcing her endorsement. “She has the experience, smarts, and tenacity to push for solutions that make a real difference in the lives of the people she represents, even when those solutions aren’t popular with the Springfield powerbrokers.”

Along with Rep. Feigenholtz, a growing number of independent-minded leaders, organizations, and 11th District residents are standing with Ann in her campaign to be your next State Representative.
